Customer Reviews

I have previously bought a few copies of the Volume 1 set of 100 Postcards of Pixar, so was very excited to find they had released a Volume II set of 100 Cards. Yes, it is true that there are about 20 "disappointing" cards, but there are 80 really stunning examples of Disney/Pixar Artwork and some actual Film Frames from their last 5 films, up to "Brave". I don't buy the cards to keep, but rather use in my mailings to my friends, the young and young-at-heart, who have Grand-children who appreciate the glory of Pixar films. Thanks again Pixar for releasing this magnificent product. I have not been disappointed, rather I am pleased - the Volume II cards are all unique cards, unlike Volume 1 Which repeated half way through. Well done!

These cards are really terrific. Good quality stock and fantastic images. The majority of the cards have images that are either inspired from different Pixar shorts/films, while the last few looked more like direct screen shots. The films represented are Ratatouille, Wall-e, Up, Toy Story 3, Cars 2 and Brave. The shorts represented are Lifted, Presto, Partly Cloudy, Day and Night, La Luna, Mater and the Ghostlight (and some other Cars Toons), Your Friend the Rat, BURN-E, Hawaiian Vacation, and Small Fry. There are some stand out cards for each film, and some that are a little stark. Some appear to be brainstorming sketches. One in particular that took me a little while to figure out was a sketch in the Wall-e set that must have been made when they were considering the idea that the people on the Axiom had degenerating into the alien Gels. But almost all are immediately identifiable. I strongly recommend this set.

I do enjoy these postcards, I bought them because my kids spend most of the school year with their mother 6 hours away from my house so I don't get to see them all the time. I ended up picking up initially some other postcards writing messages to each of them to keep in contact. I ended up looking for something that will be more for them and picked up these postcards and they love seeing which Pixar character they will get each week. They are very well done (will post a screenshot on the side of what they look like) and if you're a collector or use them like me they are well worth the money. Only flaw I would give is it has a lot of postcards that aren't really that great or just things most people probably wouldn't care about but seeing it is a part of Pixar I understand why it is in there. Other than that this is a great collection.

I absolutely love these cards! I have both volumes of these and send them for postcrossing.com. Everyone I've sent them to has loved them. There's a range of cards including shots from the movies, drawings from pre-production, different advertisements, and landscapes from the films.

These postcards are well built. The pictures are good quality. I enjoyed seeing scenes from some of my favorite movies and some of the concepts they originally tried when they first got started. This is a good deal for the price. I buy postcards each month and mail them to family and friends. A hundred postcards for $12.89 is a good deal. If you like the Pixar movies and you like postcards, then I think you will find it worth buying these postcards.

I make it a point to write letters to friends and family, recognizing that letter writing is becoming a lost art. Sometimes, I like to send quick little handwritten notes to people. I ordered these postcards, and they are perfect for what I was looking for. First of all, the quality of the postcards are great! Very sturdy and thick. The artwork is nice. Lots of concept art, line drawings, and some 'scenes' from the movies. This particular set included scenes and concept art from all of the PIXAR short films, Toy Story 3, Ratatouille, Cars 2, Brave, and WALL-E. If you are looking for lots of 'scene' cards from these movies, you may be disappointed in this set. There were some cards that weren't really nice, but I found ways to spice up the look (washi tape, coloring it in myself, cut out small pictures and tape it to the card, etc.). I will probably buy some of the other sets. These were great postcards.

I love these! The art is lovely. They're not pieces that you probably have seen elsewhere - they're unique. Many of them are sketches from the brainstorming (or even close to final) stage. There is a nice mixture although I wish there were more variety of movies. The quality is fabulous!!!! I'm so surprised. This is a wonderful deal and will last me longer than most collections, simply because of the pure quantity. I will definitely be gifting some of these away to people who will appreciate them!

I try to send postcards every two weeks to everyone in my family (we live far from both sides and I suck at the phone). This stack is ok. Thick (doesn't feel cheap), but sometimes boring for little minds. So far, I've preferred the "Where's Waldo" collection, the "Scribble It" collection, and the "Everything is connected" set. It's nice that there are so many in here for such a decent price, but probably wouldn't purchase again, and not even sure I'd recommend.
